

Is 2023 going to wake up the masses? by Gary Bate

What a terrible situation the government has put the nurses in. They are holding them to ransom. It's the guilt trip they lay on them. Ffs pay them a decent living wage, to not only keep them at work and in jobs, but to recruit more healthcare workers.

I don't buy this idea that there's no money in the kitty. There's as much money as they want to conjure up out of thin air and lend to the government at interest.

Aren't you sick of hearing about the government debt? Who are the creditors? You never hear about them! One day the governments will wake up and tell their creditors to F off!

We live in a Corporatocracy. Banking and Asset Management companies own the World. Companies that spring to mind include Blackrock, Vanguard, J.P. Morgan, Rothchilds, Rockefellers, Fidelity, State Street, Goldman Sachs etc. Blackrock and Vanguard have the most assets under management. Who owns them?

If you answer that, you know who owns 90% of the World and who the governments are in debt to. One of the families who owns these companies is the Windsors.

They will only ever give you the crumbs off their table. The likes of Sunak and Macron work for these families.

Would you like to know why the nurses can't get a decent living wage? They're not supposed to! It's not in the plans of these families. Inflation is down to them – it's been done deliberately! The oil profits are just another gravy train leading to them.

Planet Earth is planet con-job. The propaganda spewed out by the puppets keeps the masses simmering but not quite boiling over. It's all about CONTROL.

The net zero green lobby is a ruse. It's just another money-making venture. I'm only getting solar fitted because I'm hedging my bets in terms of the future energy prices...

Blaming Putin is the distraction technique that the powers that be and their puppets all hum. Who will be blamed for the Nurse strikes, the Rail strikes and the Postal workers strikes? It won't be the families who are causing this inflation.

People who are chained to the yoke are easily controlled. The banking and aristocratic families who own the likes of Blackrock and Vanguard, keep the masses chained to the yoke. They do it via mind control (the biggest secret on this planet).

Imagine being a nurse atm – it's Christmas time and minus temperatures! They need to strike, yet they need to work to pay their bills. Some don't belong to the unions because they can't afford the fees! The puppets clap but they don't support the nurses; they support their masters – the families...

It's almost 2023 and what a fucked-up World we all live in. Why? It's top-heavy. We've been conned for too long. It's all rigged. It's all to benefit the super-rich families and the masses are oblivious to their unconscious, emotional agreement with mind-control.

I do hope I have said enough to make a dent in people's armour and that you are now wise enough to do the right thing and forward this to as many people as you can ~ Gary Bate.
