

Am I wrong?

I could say, do you know of anything that's not a form of energy? Or I could state that everything is energy (including you and I). Be my guest at trying to prove this wrong...

The first thing about energy is this: you can suppress it and change its form but you cannot kill it. The second thing is that it's inextricably combined with consciousness, which means that you don't find one without the other. Therefore, consciousness is everything and you cannot kill it!

When one leaves their physical body, their consciousness is immediately aware in their light body.

You have the most amazing computer, which you hang your hats and helmets on. It's a multidimensional biological computer and you use it for this dimension alone, because that's where your focus is. Because of this, you're only using about a third of it. To use the other two-thirds and to access the other dimensions, you have to desire that and obviously shift your focus to it.

You cannot have the multidimensional molecule if you're still focussed on the fun molecule. You cannot experience being your higher self until you give up being your lower self. You cannot be imageless until you stop being motivated by image. A master is a being who is the master of all dimensions and they travel to wherever they want to go. You cannot ascend if you think you're going to die!

Your focus should be on your own evolution and using more of that which you hang your hat on. Bucket lists are for people who are completely out of sync with their soul.

Very soon we'll have the Sunak/Hunt fiscal plan (17th November) and we'll see basically 3 things:

1. The 'have-nots' will get little or no help as they are ear-marked for the Universal Basic Income.
2. The small businesses will get globbered and many will deliberately get put under. Their owners are also ear-marked for the Universal Basic income.
3. The rich will be unaffected as usual

The elite's agenda is working beautifully. Cash is disappearing and very soon they will introduce their Central-Bank-Controlled Digital Currencies, which they will programme to control what you can spend your hand-outs on. These digital currencies will have expiry dates so you cannot save. Money and pensions that exist now, will go out of the window over-night. Yes there will be chaos and anger and riots and food-shortages, as they introduce their new control system; but there will be nothing that any of us can do about it. The politicians are merely the mouthpieces for the bankers...

Biden, Trump, Starmer, Sunak, Jinping, Trudeau, Macron, Merkel, Scholz, Ardern, Sanchez, Putin, Kerry, Netanyahu et al; are all Spectre members. The James Bond movies depict a false narrative, because the British spy agencies and even the Crown; are all Spectre operatives.

If you don't know your enemy and you don't have a plan to survive what's coming – they will utterly control you. It's called Social Credit and they determine who gets it.

Watch closely their moves on the 17th. They will not increase disposable income! Interest rates will eventually come down and even go negative (it will cost you if you hoard). It's time to try and sure up the basics – water, food, clothing, shelter, your energy supply and a means of bartering...

My heart goes out to all of you who are struggling as things are only going to get worse ~ Gary.
