

Everyone (rich and poor)

Everyone (rich and poor) is struggling with their insecurities. Why is this? It's because of an adopted, wrong identity. If we all lived the truth (that we are Spiritual beings) we'd have no insecurities...

There is no truth in this World; there is only emotions and insecurity. This World is all about the dominant narrative and as the politicians put it – winning the hearts and minds of the people.

The cost to you may appear to be in your pocket; but the real cost to you is your emotional state.

I am clearly not on the side of the fat cats who continue to take the cream! I recently had a cyst removed from my back and I can tell you first hand, it's bedlam in the hospitals. The government won't pay the medics what they deserve because they're deliberately bringing the NHS to its knees, in order to 'cream it off' into their private companies.

The politicians are working in cahoots with the Davos fat cats.

Electric vehicles and solar panels and wind turbines and fake food and car sharing and lockdowns and euthanasia and carbon credits and digital money and artificial intelligence ecetera, aint going to save our planet because these things won't stop the environment-destroying chemicals they've been jet-spraying around the World for the last 75 years!

The message? Please don't live for this World because it's a fake narrative. Live for the truth, which is that you are a Spiritual being who is merely having emotional experiences here. There is no other reason for your life.

Our purpose here is to ascend with our physical bodies and that comes about from living the truth.

If you're having crazy dreams, it means you're on the right track. It's your energy coming home (back to you). This is exactly what you want and this comes from living your truth.

Desire only wisdom and get your energy back that you unwittingly leaked.

All your energy home = Soul completion = Ascension!

Where will you go to? You'll know by then.

Zelensky is a puppet. Putin is a WEF man. War is great for business. We're all being played. The hike in energy prices is deliberate to get rid of the independent businesses. 'Independent' doesn't exist in the ideal purported by the Davos cult.

The answer? It's time to stand up and be counted (just like Harry is doing). What's the easy practicality of that? Just forward this...

What's easily digestible and palatable and comfortable and popular is a nice untruthful narrative. The truth is never popular and it's a target for tyranny. Why do you think they're censoring certain information? Because they want to control the narrative. Why do you think they called their club The Club of Rome?

My motivation? To help you join the dots ~ Gary Bate.

<https://www.whatstress.com/>