

This World is going down the pan fast and the reason for it is to make way for the New World Order, which is the future designed in the image of the World's string-pullers.

Everything is being manipulated here by the Grey men, who are a mix of banking and royal families and the infamous Grey aliens.

They have laboratories all around the World. They used your fear to bait you and you complied...

So where now?

The science supports the existence of parallel Worlds, which exist on slightly different frequencies to this one; just like your favourite radio station co-exists with all the other ones you don't choose to tune into. So could a World exist where Hitler won the war? Absolutely!

If this World is not the lowest frequency (consciousness); it must certainly be near the bottom of the frequency range. God consciousness and love have been replaced here by religion and control.

I have no doubt that Worlds exist that are based upon love & truth. These Worlds are of course at higher frequencies (higher levels of consciousness). Do they have a sun? Maybe. What colour is it? Does it matter? A World that lives in love & truth will always be far more beautiful than this one...

Can you go there? Yes if you shift your focus.

I believe the Mayans left here en masse. They morphed out of here to a parallel World. We will not do it en masse, because 50% of people are still conditioned to comply with this World. But we can individually desire to live in a FREE World.

It's time to take back your power. Cease to comply with malevolent Grey men and their minions. They are FULL of their own self-interest. They are currently trying to sneak in their digital prison. It's time to make a stand and say NO!

There is a World that exists where all of the men in it were born as boys and where all of the women in it were born as girls. There is a decency in that World. They revere their children.

Have you had enough yet? Have you had enough of witnessing the chaotic fallout of the 'evil' manipulations of the Grey men? They will take your Soul if you let them.

Whether you choose the Spiritual path of ascension or not, you have a future because your very nature is eternal. Believe it or not, you decide what that future is.

If your time here runs out... just before you leave, focus on the life you want to experience and you will be caught up in the frequency bands that match your desires.

What about any children you may have? Teach them well for they are the same as you – Spirits with Souls bearing witness to the heinous crimes against Humanity.

Making people aware of probabilities is not fearmongering; it's giving them the opportunity to prepare if they choose to. The 'Greys' might go nuclear to distract us away from their vaccine crimes, or if not, they're likely to play their cyber card, for the same reason and more deaths.

There are Worlds (universes) where backward authorities don't exist – let's all go there ~ Gary Bate.
<https://www.whatstress.com/>