

None of it really matters because there really is no judgment.

Everyone learns at their own pace and that's it.

Judgment comes from lower entities who want to be in control.

Everything here is controlled. The people are not free.

It is controlled from above by those who operate the false Light.

Above that there is no judgment. Who loves cannot judge.

It is deadly to sit in judgment upon yourself and upon other people.

To submit yourself to a Light Review is a grave error.

It is giving your power away to 'lower' gods (grotesque entities).

Have your wits about you. The healthiness of your mind is everything.

There really is no judgement. Your retort should be 'so what!'.

Everyone should know this.

We're upon this World because we've allowed ourselves to be judged. Yet God does not judge.

We keep coming back to this judgmental World because we keep allowing ourselves to be judged...

We are free when we stop all judgment of ourselves and everyone else.

Hopefully you'll get to realise just how important this piece is.

Those entities in the Light are busy processing the unaware. It's a recycling factory.

What is the review? It's their Judgment Day. Think about it. You're not accountable to anyone.

You can design your own future or you can continue to let others do it for you...

The control and deception here is the same as the control and deception in the Light.

You are now destined to move beyond this silly game.

When you stop all judgment you find love.

Now surely this is making sense?

Please do your bit by spreading this...
