

It's your life – you can do what you want with it.

You buy a car – what have you purchased? An experience.

You buy a property – what have you purchased? The experience of that property.

You do the property up to experience it in a different way.

You move house into another house (or a motorhome) and you have another experience.

By creating a 'bucket list' you become clear about what you want to experience – go for it!

Other people, places, things, times and events are experiences... nothing more and nothing less.

What is it that you want to experience? For me, it's time-travel using the vehicle I've got.

It took me a long time to know the truth and an even longer time to accept it. The idea that I can be who and what I want for the experience of it, gives me a sense of freedom; but it's not real freedom.

Living the truth is immortal life. Everything else is mortal life. Let me give you an example:

You say you are heterosexual or gay or whatever you're into and whatever preference you express confirms your truth; but it also confirms an untruth – that you think you are your body. The result of your preference? You get to die again.

The closest form you have to any identity is Spirit and Spirit is non-sexual.

In this one sentence you should understand why Christ consciousness is unpopular and why Yeshua Ben Joseph only had a dozen followers, which included his wife.

You came here to experience, to be part of a family, to make babies or enjoy that process and finally, to know the truth and to live true to it. The final bit is the 'return to innocence'.

How many of the billions here will do that? A dozen? That's what it means to be brave.

It's your life – you can do what you want with it. But if you just live as a body and never return to living the truth, you die again. Your mortality and immortality is 100% down to you.

The noise of the World is just that – complete distraction away from the truth.

Some people think I'm stupid – can you believe that? It's not me who's stupid. This World is full of stupid people and this ship is being steered by stupid people to a stupid destiny.

Believe it or not, I have given you a choice and I have made it crystal clear. You choose your destiny – you always have done. There are no real victims here; just souls lost upon the stage of life.

As I said yesterday – this is the right time for a reset, but not the moronic one offered by the morons who insist everyone plays by their rules.

If you're smart, you'll forward this around the World and in doing so this World will change for the better. If you're wise as well as being savvy; you'll load this onboard your computer ~ Gary Bate.
