

Special by Gary Bate

Everyone is God (a god) but the realisation of that varies between 0% and 100%. This less than 100% realisation is because people like to feel special when really they are equal.

This specialness is image and it goes to extremes in some people – extreme delusional addiction.

Let's take worshippers – they make their man (or woman) special, which let's them off the hook of living true to their true selves. If you make someone your only god then you don't have to be it.

Tyrants are classic 'special people'. They are totally delusional. Victims are the same; they don't accept their equality with everyone – they think it's ok to be dictated to by tyrants...

So right now, upon this planet, we have a battle going on between special interests and their victims versus those who are drawing closer to this truth. Some crudely call it God versus the Devil (Satan).

As a result, many people will exit prematurely; but that matters not because they will still be alive in their Light bodies. The authorities (the tyrants) know this. Life is not about how long you survive in a physical body; but whether you reach 100% realisation or not.

God is in everyone and your job is to see this. Even those who have gone to extremes of specialness are God.

In order to take your power back and reclaim your Kingdom, you have to give up your specialness (your image) and accept your equality.

A fully realised entity cannot raise arms against anyone because they know this truth. A tyrant can no longer be a tyrant when they know this truth. Victims start to stand up for themselves when they awaken to this.

The atrocities occurring in our World are all real experiences yet they are also illusionary because life is eternal.

The people you hate are gods. You, as the one who hates, are a god. When you know this truth there is nobody and nothing to hate.

People think they're special. They think their families are special. They think their teachers, gurus, deity's and political leaders are special. The people are deluded.

The entrapment going on here is self-imposed. The victims allow the nanny state – they don't know the truth about themselves so they don't stand up for themselves. They die and they are recycled in the 'Light body trap'.

The greater Kingdom is beyond the Light in the Darkness. The Deception is that Darkness is Evil.

You are your own worst enemy or your own saviour. The idea that you're going to be in bliss when you get to the light is poppycock. You can't work out there what you don't want to work out here...

The energy vampires await you but then it's you who gives your energy away! Do you not realise that Royalty is just specialness? This whole society is structured around specialness! If you live for this World you'll die for it. It's an illusion for you to wake up from ~ Gary Bate of whatstress.com
