

The know it alls stagnate whilst the humble grow by Gary Bate

Know it alls are closed-minded and humble people are open-minded – that really says it all.

There's much to learn but if you think you know it all then you close yourself off from learning.

We have a planet full of clever people and they all die – work that one out!

The epitome of this World is that they make statues (images) and leave their legacies because how else are they going to be remembered and what else can they do?

You can read all the books in the biggest library but when you die you won't remember any of it. Why? Because you're missing a piece of the jigsaw.

What really is the trap?

You could call it a light trap and that would be true.
You could call it a servitude trap and that would also be true
You could call it a mind-control trap and guess what?

The trap is nothing more than being stuck on certain rungs of your ladder – it's a consciousness trap; a mind trap that your mind is caught in.

As I've said frequently in my books – it's a journey through the labyrinth of your mind and I write to try and show people where the doors are.

Do you really think this life is just about eating, drinking, having sex and making enough money to survive another day or maybe even prosper albeit temporarily? That's an experience for sure, but it's how you develop yourself out of that – like the phoenix rising from the ashes..;

Please don't be your own worst enemy by thinking you know it all. There are vast libraries of mind that exist in higher frequencies, which await your presence.

I love humble people – they are on the same wavelength as me. I have time for them and they have time for me. If nothing else, become humble and open-minded and you will be on the correct path.

I keep saying I want to stop writing but it keeps coming from me so I must go with the flow... I know it's divinely inspired so who am I to put a stop to it? If it's too much for you, just say and I'll remove you from my contact list.

A closed-minded person is the most difficult case and very rarely does one find a crack in their armour big enough to get a screwdriver in. You're not going to like this but there's a great argument that says these people are already dead so leave them be.

My contact list doesn't increase, it reduces and maybe that's why the great master only had 12 disciples? That's not to say that I am a great master yet! But I'm working on it and I think you should be too. I'm entitled to my opinion.

I don't normally write 2 pieces in 1 day. In fact, I think it's a first. I must go and have a lie down now! It's tough being a writer, a motorbike rider and a dog walker :) ~ Gary Bate.

<https://www.whatstress.com/>