

History keeps repeating itself and it's always the same battle.

2000 years ago, one man stood alone to bring truth to the ignorant masses. To try to get them to understand, he taught them in parables. He failed and the tyrants nailed him to a cross.

Today we are in the same situation. In fact, the situation today is the same as it's always been – tyrants trying to impose their designs onto mind-controlled victims.

Is there any resolve to this never-ending tyrant/victim drama? Reluctantly I have to say NO because people are either unwittingly on the side of the tyrants (because of the mind-control) or they don't want to pay the price for standing up for their own truth.

How many people will die for their truth? There's a price to pay for freedom, unfortunately.

The tyrants will fight to the bitter end for their ideal and the ignorant masses will comply. The awakened resistance will be sacrificed – we have already been demonised by mind-controlled branding such as 'conspiracy theorist' and 'anti-vaxxer' (even though this is not true).

The truth never fully emerges here because the ignorant masses aren't interested in it; they are only interested in their next meal. They will only rebel if they don't have enough food to eat.

The tyrants have successfully divided us. Divide to conquer always works. The insurance companies are reporting a 40% increase in general mortality rates yet the vaccine makers are beyond reproach (they don't prove their vaccines are safe and they are not liable for their effects).

The massive institutional investment firms (eg. Black Rock and Vanguard), which own the vaccine companies and most of the World; are themselves owned principally by the Rothchild's and the Windsors. The privileged few guard their images as best as they can whilst they are fully aware of the actions of the companies they are invested in. The masses are duped time and time again...

The only way this World will ever change for the better is if there's divine intervention by a group of benevolent aliens and even that could fail because the progenitors of the mind-control here would convince the ignorant masses that 'we are under attack and we need to unite (NWO) to conquer the extraterrestrial threat'.

So you see, there is no formidable force that can unseat the current malevolent power structure. Who is going to bring down the Monarchy? Who is going to dismantle the Federal Reserve? Who is going to bring down the Great Whore? Who is going to dismantle all the fraudulent organisations like the WHO, the CDC, the WEF and the UN? It's all corrupt people but it's never going to change!

Is there an answer for every individual? Yes there is but it has nothing to do with this World. It is solely to do with everyone's Soul and the very reason we are all here, which is self-mastery.

Let Caesar have what is Caesars. In other words, let the Tyrants have their A.I. ideal. You are powerless to stop them and your brethren are sleeping like babes. Focus only upon your evolution.

To help you I've written 5 books on the subject. They're powerful (self-empowering) quick reads. I can't do it for you. It's up to you. I still have to put the finishing touches to myself! The more advanced you become the more you realise that you can't really help other people (your Soul has different unfinished business to their Souls). So best of luck to you (I've done all I can by writing it down for you). If you've got any queries you can always email me at gary@whatstress.com
~ Gary Bate www.whatstress.com